POLE IS FOUND

North Pole. The quest for the latter has been through great fields of open water and floating ice, whereas the South Pole is situated on land.

Scores of navigators have perished in the quest for the North Pole, but relatively few in trying to reach the South Pole. The problem has not been one of reaching the Pole over floating ice, but of passing rapidly over snow-covered foothills of the mountain range and glaciers.

Peary Awaits Details.

Washington, March 7.—Rear Admiral Robert E. Peary, U. S. N., retired, the Arctic explorer and the discoverer of the North pole, who has followed with considerable interest the movements of the several expeditions in the Antarctic, said today he was glad to hear that Captain Scott of the British expedition was the first man to succeed in reaching the South pole. Admiral Peary said he might say more when he heard the details of Captain Scott's successful expedition.

Amundsen Failed.

London, March 7.—It is said on good authority, according to a special dispatch received here today from Christiania, Norway, that Captain Roald Amundsen, the Norwegian explorer and leader of the expedition to the South pole, did not reach the South pole.

ECUADOR GENERAL KILLED BY REBELS

QUITO, Ecuador, March 6.—General Julio Andrade, one of the noted men of Ecuador, military commander at Guayaquil, and former minister to Colombia, was killed here last night in what is believed to have been an attempt to gain control of the republic.

A large party of Conservatives, headed by General Andrade, attacked the police barracks, but in a fierce engagement the Conservatives were repulsed and Andrade was killed. General Leonidas Plaza has been offered the provisional presidency, but he declined. Carlos Prella, president of the senate, has resigned. Dr. Francisco Andrade Marin, president of the chamber of deputies, temporarily has resumed the presidency.

TROOPS ARE LANDED.

Ensenada, Cal., March 6.—The Mexican submarine General Guerrero arrived in port from Mazatlan last night, bringing federal troops and supplies. Stops were made at La Paz and San Quintin where reinforcements for the garrisons there were landed. The balance of the troops are intended to strengthen the garrisons in the northern district of Lower California, including the posts along the international line from the Colorado river to Tijuana.

The Mexican authorities here have not stated how many soldiers were taken on board at Mazatlan.

Manchester, Eng., dock workers recently went on strike because the shipping companies continued to employ non-union labor. A general strike of the transport workers is threatened.

RICE AND SHEFFELS PLEAD GUILTY

New York, March 7.—George Graham Rice and B. H. Sheffels, who with the other members of the firm of B. H. Sheffels & Co., have been on trial for the last five months in the United States district court for alleged conspiracy and misuse of the mails, pleaded guilty to the indictments charged when court convened at this afternoon.

OROZCO IS SUSTAINED

Chihuahua Legislature Supports the Rebel Leader

Chihuahua, Mexico, March 7.—Gen. Orozco today gave instructions for a resumption of traffic on the Mexican Northwestern railway between here and Madera. Traffic on the Mexican Central still is subject to the orders of Orozco. There probably will be one train north today to Juarez.

Felipe Gutierrez is now acting as governor. The legislature formally has approved Orozco's action of yesterday in declaring against Madero. A body of rebel troops is seeking Villa's forces, supposed to be west of Chihuahua.

REPUBLICANS WILL FIGHT SUGAR BILL

WASHINGTON, March 6.—Proposing to rename the Democratic sugar bill, "an act to surrender revenue, destroy competition and create monopoly," the Republicans of the ways and means committee of the house today announced a minority report on the Underwood bill, which will be the next of the tariff bills to be considered by the house.

The report was submitted by Representative Fordney of Michigan. It charges that there is a union between the sugar trust and the Democratic party and that the free-sugar measure is designed to catch the votes of the consumer and will in time, deliver the consumer to the mercy of the sugar trust.

The report gives credit to the beet sugar industry for holding down the price of sugar during the advance of last year and predicts that sugar safeguard would be destroyed if the beet sugar men were driven out of business.

The report asserts that the Underwood free sugar bill is "the boldest attempt in the history of our republic to surrender an important and growing industry to foreign importers," and it is "against the domestic sugar producers and solely in the interest of the refiners of imported raw sugar, commercially known as the sugar trust."

The report says that the sugar beet growing industry would be killed if the refiners were forced to suspend tariff legislation. There are 112,000 farmers engaged in growing sugar beets, the report adds, and it comments that "the Democratic party says to these farmers: We propose to make you pay for this reduction in the tariff on sugar."

Predicting dire days for the sugar consumer, the report says, not in the palmist days of the trust, when Mr. Havemeyer ruled its fortunes with a rod of iron and an ambition bounded only by the confines of this country, did the American sugar company ever monopolize such a portion of the sugar consumed in the United States as this bill would deliver into its keeping."

The assertion that the Underwood bill will help the sugar refiners and destroy the beet industry is followed by the declaration that there has been collusion between the Democratic majority and the sugar trust. In charging that the beneficiaries of the tariff removal would be the sugar refiners, the report makes this specification:

"Another evidence of the closeness of the union between the Democratic party and the sugar trust, is found in the chemical schedule recently passed by the unanimous vote of the Republican representatives.

"The Payne-Aldrich bill places an ad valorem duty of 25 per cent duty on bone black. The Democratic chemical schedule, the duty on all items in this section, except bone black, is reduced and placed on the free list. Who uses bone black? Practically no one except the sugar refiners. It is one of the principal items of expense in refining sugar. Not a pound is used in the domestic sugar industry."

"The man who uses lamp black in painting his barn must pay a 15 per cent duty on the same, but the sugar trust, that uses millions of pounds of bone black, shall have the duty removed entirely, so that it can import the most expensive material used in its business without paying a revenue into the national treasury."

"Now, less than a month after the passage of the chemical schedule, the same Democratic party introduces a bill, placing sugar on the free list, relieving these same refiners of the burdens of $52,000,000 duty on their raw sugar. Thus the union has been consummated."

KNOX RECEIVES HEARTY WELCOME

MANAGUA, Nicaragua, March 6.—The American secretary of state made his first visit today, when he responded to the welcome extended to him by the assembly.

"My government," he said, "does not covet an inch of territory south of the Rio Grande. The full measure of our policy is to assist in the maintenance of republican institutions in this hemisphere. We have a well known policy regarding causes that may threaten the existence of an American republic, and beyond this always will be found to show that we are willing to preserve the integrity of our sister republics."

Mr. Knox said there was some apprehension in Central America regarding the motives of the United States towards those republics under the Monroe doctrine. The assembly adopted a resolution extending greetings to the United States congress. Similar cordial speeches were exchanged at a banquet which Mr. Knox attended.

President Adolfo Diaz gave a dinner and reception tonight. About fifty telegraph messages of greeting have been

ACTIVITY OF THE POLICE

Children Halted as They Are About to Leave Lawrence

Lawrence, Mass., March 7.—The police today made no attempt to prevent the departure from the city to Philadelphia of a delegation of forty children of striking textile operatives, although the officers held up the party long enough to obtain the name and address of each child making the trip. The children left soon after 7 o'clock, accompanied by six delegates from the strike committee of the Industrial Workers of the World.

The departure was the principal event of the early morning hours, although disturbances, in which the pickets of the strikers figured, received some police attention and twelve arrests had been made previously to 8 o'clock.

Observers at the mill gates reported that there was no noticeable increase in the number of returning operatives.

A crowd of about 300 persons, in action to this, the police prevented the departure of the children. When the train reached South Lawrence, all of the children were sent back to Lawrence again, in order that the address of the children and the name of each parent might be obtained. This information being furnished, the children finally were allowed to depart.

HORSES ARE KILLED BY PTOMAIN

Of late a number of valuable farm horses have died suddenly of an ailment that at first was rather mysterious but which has been diagnosed to be ptomaine poisoning.

The animals were stricken with paralysis and within a few hours died. A Japanese expert was consulted by some of the farmers, but he was at a loss to know what the trouble was.

Dr. Frederick, veterinarian of the State Agricultural college, and Veterinarian Bundy of this city were summoned.

The two doctors found that the afflicted horses were suffering acute ptomaine poisoning caused through eating moldy hay. The poisoning was found to be so severe that there was no hope of saving the animals.

James Jensen of Pleasant View lost a number of animals worth from $75 to $250 each and Deputy Sheriff Clark, Ellsworth lost a good horse.

The doctors advised the farmers to be careful in the use of hay at this time of year because of the possibility of some of it being moldy, through dampness caused by the heavy storms of the winter soaking into the stacks.

The veterinarians also stated that if hay is put up a little green in the middle of a stack or in the center of the mow in the barn it will mold, and any great quantity of hay fed to horses causes a ptomaine poisoning, invariably fatal. Other stock is not so susceptible to the poisoning as are horses.

VETERAN FIREMAN DANCE TONIGHT

The Veteran Firemen's dance to be given at the Colonial Dancing hall tonight promises to be one of the most largely attended dances of the season.

Tonight's will be a number of the old time dances which have been so popular. This dance is given for the benefit of John Wesley Browning, better known as "Chub," and on this account an unusually large attendance is expected.

President J. C. Gale of the Veteran Firemen's association will be unable to be present on account of a case of smallpox which has developed in his family.

TOLLS QUESTION ON PANAMA CANAL

WASHINGTON, D. C., March 6.—It is doubtful if there is any one subject pending before congress in which American trade is more vitally interested than the question of tolls on the Panama canal, which, in view of the opening of the "big ditch" next year, must be speedily settled in order that all nations may be advised in due season of the position taken by our government.

There are now pending before congress several bills which have for their purpose the separation of the water carriers from the rail carriers. These bills are the subject of much discussion.

COACHMAN ENDS HIS OWN LIFE

Danbury, Conn., March 7.—George Mead, a coachman for the Rev. Frank Hartfield, rector of the Episcopal church at Brewster, N. Y., made a murderous attack on the two daughters of the rector and then blew himself to pieces with dynamite.

According to the story received here today, Ruby Hartfield, 20 years old, and Amy, her sister, 21 years, carried some tools yesterday to Mead who was at work in the carriage house. As they entered Mead sprang at them and struck Amy over the head with a pair of pliers, felling her. Ruby made her escape and went to summon help. Amy revived and ran from the building, when a terrific explosion occurred and the end of the building was blown out. Searchers afterwards found Mead's body in pieces among the ruins.

ADVISED TO JOLLY THEIR HUSBANDS

Chicago, March 7.—Members of the Woman's Aid and Loan society were advised to "jolly" their husbands and prevent family discord in an address by Judge Charles E. Goodnow of the court of domestic relations yesterday.

"The trouble these days," he said, "is that men and women, after they are married, forget the nice little things which count so much. They no longer put each other on the cheek, jolly each other, take moonlight strolls together. They become too matter-of-fact, and soon believe that the injured does not care enough. This leads to quarrels and separation."

One woman interrupted the judge to raise the question of woman's suffrage. "I do not believe in women voting," responded the speaker, and continued his address.

SERIOUS FIRE IN ROCHESTER

Rochester, N. Y., March 7.—The entire city fire department is fighting a fire in an automobile sales room on State street. Large quantities of gasoline are burning. The fire is in a thickly settled retail district and may become serious.

At 3:15 p.m. the fire had eaten its way into a four-story building occupied by the Clark Paint, Oil and Glass company, to the north. The building is stored with inflammable materials and Chief Little expressed the opinion that if the flames got a foothold there a serious conflagration would result.

SHOOTS WOMAN IN COLD BLOOD

LYNN, Mass., March 6.—Walking up to her neighbor, Mrs. Florence Inalls, on the street tonight, Mrs. Jessie Chapman pulled a revolver from a handbag and shot her six times. Mrs. Inalls died almost instantly. Mrs. Chapman was arrested and admitted the shooting.

When asked for an explanation of her act, Mrs. Chapman at first, according to the police, said "she ruined my life."

When pressed for further details, she replied, "My husband was not to blame at all."

Then she collapsed and became hysterical. Her husband and intimate friends believed she was mentally unbalanced.

The two women had been friends for years.

MORE TROOPS FOR DUTY IN CHINA

PEKING, China, March 6.—Complacent quiet has been restored in Peking. The action of the American minister, Mr. Calhoun, in calling to Manila for further troops for Tien Tsin, it is stated, was not due to the fear of a concerted attempt against foreigners, similar to the Boxer rising, but owing to the belief that it was expedient to have any Chinese troops cannot be depended upon and that disorders are sweeping the north with little hope of prompt restoration of government control.

The American legation today sent a message to the missionaries at Pao Ting Fu, urging that the women and children especially, be sent to a place of safety, as Pao Ting Fu is beyond the reach of protection. It has been found impossible to communicate with other Americans below that town, owing to the complete interruption of the telegraph and postal services, and the fact that the railway is in the hands of mutineers.

Letters had previously been received from Pao Ting Fu, giving accounts of the distress of the natives, owing to the sacking of the shops and houses. The homes of some of the wealthiest natives are now only heaps of ruins. The missionaries say their presence there is greatly needed, as many persons have been injured and are destitute and will not survive without aid. The French legation has a special train to bring back the French residents. The native priests have refused to leave the towns and have made urgent appeals for assistance, but little help is available.

William B. Strickland, the former American consul at Mukden, describes an interesting adventure in which Prince Ching, the ex-premier, who is now in the French hospital, was one of the principals. Prince Ching desired to recover a deserted treasure and restore it to the French bank. Mr. Strickland and Jean Cass neave, a banker, with Ching's son, accompanied him, and they proceeded with a number of charts to the palace. The bullion was found where it had been secreted and 150,000 taels and other valuables were gathered together. The soldiers guarding the palace, because surly when they saw that the wealth was to be taken away and threatened to seize it. The distribution of 1500 taels, however, resulted in their permitting the carts to depart.
